Portfolio Advisor Quarterly Commentary as of 09-30-2009

The return of Scotia Money Market Fund over the quarter was 0.03% versus the benchmark DEX 60-Day T-Bill Index return of 0.00%.

The fund continued to generate income during the third quarter. The Bank of Canada decided to keep the overnight rate at 0.25% after their meetings in July and September. Core inflation has become less of a concern, remaining well below the Bank of Canada's target of 2%.

Over the period, the three-month T-bill rates remained constant, while commercial paper rates declined slightly. Due to the anticipation of higher interest rates next summer, the yield of the one-year T-bills maturing in September 2010 has begun to rise, resulting in a steeper money market yield curve.

The portfolio advisor continues to maintain an average term to maturity for the fund of approximately 70 days. The majority of the fund's assets remain invested in bank notes and commercial paper.
