

Scotiabank Donates $50,000 to National AIDS Programme

Scotiabank's recent $50,000 dollar donation will help to bring relief to children with AIDS said Minna Israel, Managing Director of Scotiabank (Bahamas) Ltd. Management and staff presented the $50,000 cheque to Dr. Gomez, AIDS Secretariat to The Bahamas - to purchase a testing machine - which will be used to detect AIDS in children two years and under. The testing machine – a DNA/PCR is the goal standard for the diagnosis of HIV/AIDS in children. Through various internal and external projects, Scotiabank's team members raised $7,239.00 (Canadian).

During National AIDS Day, staff members participated in a jeans day and joined in the cheque presentation to show their support in the fight against AIDS.
